

Welsh in the workplace

The use of the Welsh language is an essential and important skill.

Very important.

It's helped me a lot.

Welsh can take you far in places.

Without Welsh, I wouldn't be doing the job I'm doing today.

I think when I was in school,
I didn't realise it was a skill until I came to the world of work.

Speaking Welsh is a skill

We have Welsh courses that are available in the workplace.

It gives me the opportunity to provide bigger service for my customers.

There's nothing better than sitting down and talking face to face to someone in their native language, and that makes a huge difference.

It gives me an advantage and it gives an advantage to a company.

I would say that it's a really important skill if you have that skill to speak Welsh.

There are no words, to be honest,
to describe how important the Welsh language is to me.

Thanks to all the employers who took part.

ITV Wales - Griffiths Civil Engineering & Construction Principality Building Society - Welsh Ambulance Service.